This seminar will explore the writings of Franz Kafka and the effect that his literary legacy has had on literature and film. Our objective will be to analyze how elements of modern consciousness and "the Kafkaesque" reappear in selected texts of later modern and postmodern writers and filmmakers. The first part of the seminar will focus on understanding Kafka’s complex narratives and his place and influence in literary and cultural history of Jewish-German-Czech Prague in the first decades of the 20th century. Our study of Kafka’s work will be situated alongside the debates regarding European modernity within the context of Jewish languages, culture and identity. In addition to reading short stories (including The Metamorphosis, In the Penal Colony, and The Hunger Artist), we will turn to his novels The Castle and The Trial, personal diaries and correspondences. Our readings of Kafka will center on such topics as law and justice, family and solitude, humans and animals, modernity, travel, the crisis of language and Judaism.

After our in-depth analysis of Kafka’s works, we will explore the major role Kafka played in the construction of the modern and postmodern literary canon of the twentieth century. The course will explore Kafka’s impact on World literature and aesthetic culture, whereby his writing has triggered multiple responses in shifting languages and media. We will trace "the Kafkaesque" in the narrative fictions of selected authors, including Jorge Luis Borges and Albert Camus, and filmmakers such as the Coen brothers.

Although this course will be taught in English, students taking the class for German major or minor credit at the 4000 level are strongly encouraged to read the Kafka texts in German. Also, it is strongly encouraged that the exams and final paper be written in German.

1) Students are allowed 2 unexcused absences. 1/2 a point will be deducted from your final grade for each unexcused absence thereafter. Missing a Thursday class is equivalent to 1.5 days, while missing a Tuesday class is equal to 1 class. If you miss 6 classes in the semester, you will automatically fail the course. Participation will play a major part of the final grade and students are expected to partake and contribute daily to class discussions. If you do not bring to class the text we are discussing for that day, you will be marked as absent.

2) There will be a take home midterm and take home final exam comprised of identification and short answer essay questions.

3) There will be final research paper on topic of choice selected by the student in consultation with me. The final paper is due 12/4. Late papers will not be accepted.

Please silence your cell phones before entering our classroom. Do not text message in class.
